Mrs. Neace Gets 10 Year Sentence

Perry County Circuit Court has sentenced Mrs. Ruby Neace to ten years in jail for the slaying last July of her uncle, Ollie Bailey.

In other trials this week, the court cleared Ray Gibson of charges of murdering his wife at their store in Busy last year, and on motion of the Commonwealth dismissed murder charges against Mervin Red Combs for the death of Chester Eversole.

Bailey was shot by Mrs. Neace at her home in Bluegrass hollow shortly after her husband had left their home for work. She originally confessed to the slaying, saying she fired the fatal blast when her uncle tried to rape her.

She later changed her story, telling Perry County Sheriff Bill Cornett and County Attorney Talbot Combs, that her father-in-law Jake Neace, killed Bailey and then forced her to admit to the shooting.

Killed In Blaze
Combs was indicted here in the death of Chester Eversole who died in an apartment house blaze on East Main Street. Charges again him were with carrying a concealed weapon drawn by the Commonwealth.

A Combs resident was arrested Tuesday for the shotgun slaying of Mrs. Lillie Valentine in late December at her restaurant in Combs.

Taken into custody at his home by Perry County Sheriff Paul Amis and the State Police at his home was 54-year old Tom Woods. Woods was arrested after the Perry County Grand Jury returned an indictment for murder against him, Monday.

Judge Contest

Fifteen Eastern Kentucky communities competed for cash prizes totaling $900.00 in the community improvement program sponsored by the financial institutions of the area along with the Kentucky Power Company. Judging the scrapbooks are left to right: J. G. Zimmerman of Louisville, director of industrial development for the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce; Robert Worden of Frankfort, assistant director of industrial development for the Department of Economic Development; and Jerry Elkhoney of Owensboro, Industrial representative for the Texas Gas Transmission Corporation.

Hazard Takes Second In Improvement Contest

The winners of the 1957 Better Eastern Kentucky Community Improvement Contest are being announced by Rufus P. Thomas, industrial development representative for Kentucky Power Company.

The winners in Group I, including towns up to 1200 population, are South Shore first, West Liberty second, and Salyersville third. The winners in Group II, including towns from 1201 to 2000 population, are Vanceburg first, Grayson second, and Greenup third. The winners in Group III, including towns from 2001 to 10,000 population, are Paintsville first, Hazard second, and Catlettsburg third.

Fifteen Eastern Kentucky communities submitted scrapbooks showing their progress in 1957, which was an increase of three over the previous year. Cash awards of $150, $100, and $50 will be given to the first, second, and third place winners of each of the three population groups. Each community that receives an award is obligated to use the money in promoting their 1958 program.

After the scrapbooks were judged and the winners determined, they were turned over to the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce to be judged in the state-wide contest. Although the state-wide program has been operating for seven years, 1957 was only the second year for the Eastern Kentucky Contest.

The judges were unanimous in stating that they noted considerable improvement in the scrapbooks and the progress in the communities in the short period of one year. They felt that if this progress continues, the area as a whole will reap untold benefits.

Communities submitting entries that will receive certificates of recognition are Inez, Neou Jackson, Whitesburg, Pikeville, and Louis.

Jury Scores County Jail

The Perry County Jailhouse is again the butt of comment from a grand jury.

The third time in the past two years, a Perry grand jury has remarked unfavorably on the jail's condition.

In its report issued here Tuesday, the grand jury noted: "Upon our inspection of the county jail we found the quarters of Mr. Maggard, the jailer, clean and in very good condition. Before we make any further comment, we wish to say that we believe that Mr. and Mrs. Maggard are doing as good a job as possible to do under the circumstances. However, as we visited the jail property we do not see how it is at all possible to maintain any degree of sanitation with the present set-up. We do not advocate the inmates having every comfort and convenience but we do feel that they should be cared for as human beings. We found even the bars to the cells almost rusted out in many places and the steel sheets in several instances were rusted through. We are not shocked at all to hear frequently that some of the inmates have made their escape. We do not attribute this trouble to any of the officials of the jail or the county but such is the predicament in which we find ourselves and some move should be made to remedy it without delay."

The grand jury noted that the main court room was to be painted immediately following this term of court, and "found other changes for general improvement being made and discussed."

The jury voted it's thanks to County Attorney C. A. Noble Jr., Mrs. Clauden Ferguson and Mrs. W. M. Melton for assistance during this session of court.

Home Gardens

We hope that everyone who has available land will plan to raise vegetables for home use. There is no greater satisfaction than raising your own top quality vegetables. This can mean a real saving. We have some very excellent bulletins on home gardens which are available free on request.

Listed below are some things that should be done in February:

1. Home garden soil tested.
2. Prepare soil for early garden.
3. Prepare cold frame for operation.
4. Transplant cabbage, cauliflower, kale, and lettuce to wider spacing in hotbed.
5. Trim onion transplants.
6. Sow seed of broccoli, brussels sprouts, and beets in seed flats in hotbed.

Strawberries

Strawberries should be set March 20-April 10, so order certified virus free plants now. Approximately 4,000 plants are needed to set one acre. Normally with good care one quart of berries can be expected from each plant set. A good garden will include two or three rows of strawberries for home use. We would recommend Tennessee Beauty or Pocahontas varieties as best for home use or market.

Orchard Sprays

Prospects for a good fruit crops is excellent. Spray materials should be secured and sprayers checked.

Spray schedules showing materials to use and time to apply can be secured at this office on request.

Soil Testing

Soil samples should be taken as soon as the ground is dry. Directions for taking good representative samples can be obtained at this office.

Get the most for your money when buying fertilizer. Don't guess. Have your soil tested.

Utility Market For Coal Industry To Double

A prediction that the electric utility market for bituminous coal will almost double in the next 12 years was made today by Dr. Myles E. Robinson, Director of Coal Economics of the National Coal Association.

Dr. Robinson told the Maryland Coal Association that the electric utility market for bituminous coal for the next decade and "even beyond should expand and not contract."

He estimated that by 1970 electric utilities would be consuming in the neighborhood of 300 million tons of coal a year, an increase over present utility consumption of about 91 per cent. In 1957, the industry furnished approximately 157.4 million tons of bituminous coal to electric utilities.

In a survey of coal's markets, both present and future, Dr. Robinson, after a careful review of both optimistic and pessimistic projections of the amount of nuclear power to be built by 1980, concluded that "nuclear power poses no great threat to coal."

With regard to other coal markets, Dr. Robinson forecast that the cement industry, stimulated by the federal highway construction program, will consume more coal than ever in the next decade. He declared that coal sales to the steel industry—second only to the utilities as a coal consumer—will stabilize and increase as the economy recovers from the adjustment through which it is now passing.

Plymouth

Folks, I hardly know what to start writing about at this time. I know one of the main discussions has been the weather. Boys, we can't do anything about it.

I sure hope that we won't miss the Pike run entirely on Lake Cumberland this year. I know many of you are looking forward to it. Just keep a careful eye on your almanac, also on the weather man's report. Neither have been off to much so far. I have sometimes caught them slipping on their forecast. All I can say is just have that gear ready, then be ready to move at the right time when old man winter decides we have had enough. Believe me, I for one and very well satisfied that he has done a good job. Just keep your chins up, this weather will allow you some extra time to spend with your family.

Maybe give you sometime to thaw out some water pipes that has frozen during this I would say the big freeze of 1958. Yes, maybe give you time to think, to count your extra blessings that could have befallen upon you.

LOOKING BACK

Many discussions I have heard during this cold spell, many say this has out done 1917-18 winter. Which I will have no part of discussing the difference. I can remember the 1917 one in part. I can also remember 1958 much better, regardless of which one was the coldest.

This weather has brought out more discussions than on the weather. It brought back memories to many of the days when Eastern Kentucky was what I would say, being settled. Weather such as we have had is fine for everything but work. Maybe it will serve a purpose in more ways than one, as one fellow stated a few days ago that he use to buy a midland of a hog for 50 cents, another fellow spoke up. He said you couldn't buy its tail for that today. This has been a winter that will always be remembered for many out standing tales other than the hog's.

This weather also affected me some what since I couldn't go hunting or fishing. I decided I would do a little cleaning up, such as my desk, I didn't get too far until I ran upon a copy of a magazine dated 1932. It was called Kentucky Progress. I stopped all my cleaning and started to read.

Folks, I was really surprised at the progress that had been made in our state. Most of all what had happened right around our own neighbors, roads, cars, electricity, water, schools, so many other improvements too numerous to name.

We still have much room for further progress in Perry County. In this same issue of the magazine it mentioned the Perry Fish and Game Club, by the way fellows why not get your membership renewed today along with that good wife and kids. Remember that you get six issues of the Happy Hunting Ground Magazine along with your membership card. Send that buck in now. Then you will be looking forward instead of backward. We have it, all you have to do is help develop it.

COME TO PASS

Yes boys, a change has crossed your path since my last article, past couple days has felt like it should, sunshine, thawing conditions, snow melting. Fellows to me, it is a reminder of Spring. We can't get too over anxious in regard to this sudden change. Remember this is still February, also March is a hard one to over come, when it comes to your fishing trips.

Time will work all this out in your favor. I am like you I get a little over impatient with it at times. I would say that your best bet would be for the early fishing would be the Walleye run on Lake Cumberland. I will endeavor to keep you posted in regard to it.

One little fellow by the name of Dan Maggard Jr., age 4. I am sure is getting ants in his pants, because last season he caught himself three bass. All he has wanted is a fishing rod for his presents, such as birthday, Christmas and etc. Little Dan has come by this honest because I have been informed that his mother and dad have had him on the river bank since he was 6 months old. I would say you couldn't have had him in a better place than along with you on your camping trips.

Always Good

To hear from you the readers of this column. If I didn't hear from you. I am sure that I would cease to write it.

Thanks to you Mrs. Herbert Williams up Seuddy way. Sorry that you can't fish, but do appreciate that many in your family does take after this noble art. Such as her dad, Doc Mullins, it is a far fetched tale about Doc catching a large Buffalo sucker near the locks. It is of course customary to brag a little about the size of a fish you catch.

This Doc, I am sure was doing, when his good wife asked him to stop talking about it. I believe some of his friends came to bat for him. They even stated that if they had caught a fish that big. Well you can imagine what a fish story that would have been.

I am sure that Mr. Mullins wanted to keep it with in the boundary of honesty.

Delbert Baker up Leatherwood way, nice hearing from you.

Also from you Taylor Witt, glad that you are receiving the Hazard Herald, although you are now a resident of Elizabethtown.

Running a Motel in that area. I believe that you are some what like Shine Boy Phillip told Former Sheriff John Gross, that he was homesick for these hills.

Taylor, I wouldn't be afraid to bet that you are some what on the lonesome side at times to get back into these hills.

GOOD MAN SLEEPY WHEELER

A man of color that spent many years with the Allais Coal Co., very good friend of Mr. Clyde Leveridge. Sleepy always greets you with Good Man. Sleepy hails from the Alabama area.

Sleepy states that he had worked for a stealing wage so long. He says that certain habits are very hard to get away from. Of course Sleepy, we realize the days that you were picking cotton. I doubt very seriously that you could run Sleepy Wheeler out of these mountains. It has been reported that Sleepy was a very good man to have around the polls.

Grassroots Opinion

FORT PAYNE, ALA., TIMES NEW-ERA: Ing the first earth satellite in motion Nikita Krushchev gives credit therefor to the 'socialist' system of government under which the Soviets operate. He implies, of course, that this 'socialist' or communist system is superior to the capitalistic system that we know in America. For our part we'll take the good old American way over the totalitarian way of Russia, even if it means that we're later than they in making a spectacular demonstration of our ability to get a 'Sputnik' circulating around the earth. We hope the day will never come in this land of ours when even the most amazing scientific achievement is put ahead of the freedoms we are to enjoy."

For Lessons On Coon Hunting Contact Mrs. Elmer Holiday

If you want lessons on coon hunting—contact Mrs. Elmer Holiday in Walkertown. Seems Mrs. Holiday, one recent Sunday, took some odds and ends out to the garage when she encountered a "cat" prowling about.

The animal nonchalantly wandered off when she told it to scat.

When Elmer returned later in the day, she told him of the cat "with large white bands" about its eyes. A quick inspection of the garage revealed the tracks left there were those of a "coon".

And then there are those of us who invest a fortune in guns, dogs, walk miles into the midnight hours and come up with nothing.

More Local Color

Stansbury Owen tells this one on himself and a customer who came into his store recently.

Seems the customer was interested in buying a household of furniture and appliances and before Stan realized it he had an order that would bring smiles to the face of any businessman.

And then came, of course, time for the down payment. The man reached for his wallet and would he (Stan) lend him a couple of bucks for bus money home to get the wallet.

As any businessman knows, the trick is an old one quite often pulled by petty bums in need of cash. Stan knew what the man was pulling off and sent the "customer" on his way.

Flying Kites? Beware Of Metal Parts

If this year is like others, two things are about to happen. The first will be the beginning of March winds. And the second, following on the heels of the first, will be children flying their kites.

Kite flying is as popular today as it was in the past. Remember when everyone made their own kites out of newspapers or wrapping paper, some sticks, flour paste and a few bits of rags for the string tail? And the bigger the roll of cotton string, the better the kite flying.

A few years ago kite flying was easy. There were plenty of spots to fly a kite without worrying about cars, electric lines, TV antennas and the like.

But conditions have changed. Kite flying today, while still as much fun, can be dangerous.

That's why Reddy Kilowatt, who works for your power company, asks parents to keep a close watch on kite buying and kite flying. Reddy suggests four simple rules that will keep the fun in kite flying, and add safety to the

"Punks" Have Gotta Go-Principal

"The punks causing trouble either have to grow up or get out—now." This is the ultimatum of the president of the Pleasant Hill, Mo., school board, hailed as a public hero and a man of "intellectual fortitude" by Managing Editor H. C. Hutcheson, of the AUGUSTA (Kan.) GAZETTE.

"The (new) rules were laid down," he writes, "after one teacher took second place in an encounter with a hoodlum group, resulting in some $300 damage to a classroom. A mass meeting with parents of the 280 students in the school was called where they were told they would have to pay for the damage . . . and that 'we are going to have respectful conduct in the school simply by booting out those that do not comply'."

"One of the first rules," reports Editor Hutcheson, "is 'respectable dress' . . . dresses for the girls—no more jeans in high school—and no more 'bawling of the manly chests' of the high school boys. Any student who uses profanity or defies a teacher is expelled, and every classroom disciplinary measure is relayed to the teachers, principal, parents and board. Necking and burning tires on hot rods during the noon hour are also out. Students bringing cars to school turn in their keys at the office until school is out. When the students arrive, they go at once to first hour classrooms. Switchblade knives are going out—and those who carry them are going with them."

Ten Mile Resident Appeals For Road

This cold spell surely has made it rough for the people on Ten Mile Creek. They sure are snowed in here and can't get out to get any food. We all are about out of food. I know this bad spell has caused everyone some trouble but our main disaster is we don't have any road to travel on. There is only about 4 miles of road, that is from the highway at the mouth of ten mile to the highway on Grapevine. This would be many miles closer for every one from Winchester to our Buckhorn Dam.

The road would solve our long needed road problem for the people of Ten Mile Creek. If some person out here was in need of hospital care they would not have a chance.

Please county officials let's all work together and help all those people while we are helping ourselves at the same time.

We are awaiting some effort to be made. POSTMASTER: Engle, Ky.

The fact that some people do get mad doesn't bother me particularly. But be sure and get mad at the right person. I am the one who writes the editorials.

Hotel Pilferage

From the supper club of a famous hotel, where 4500 people dine and dance each week, the pilferage of silverware amounts to $1,000 a month.

In seven months, the management reported that it had replaced 100 dozen oyster forks, 288 dozen forks, 80 dozen desert knives, 60 dozen steak knives, 270 dozen ladles, 78 dozen gravy boats, and seven dozen coffee pots (individual).

The manager of the Statler Hotel in New York once said that petty thievery was a big expense item, and this is true even at the White House.

The writer had wondered why the lighting in the hotel rooms is so often inadequate. The answer, it seems, is that a bulb larger than 40-watt is promptly stolen.

The idea of many guests is that small items won't be missed or that the size of their bill justifies a souvenir.

And when their child walks off with something from a store, is it any wonder where the youngster got the idea?

sort.

First, be sure the child is using a kite without any metal in it. Secondly, beware of cord with tinsel or with little strands of wire wrapped in it. If they come in contact with a power line, these metal cords can cause burns and shock.

Reddy also advises youngsters to pick a level spot away from power lines, TV antennas, rocks and trees so they have plenty of room to run. Discourage children from using the streets or highways where there is real danger from cars.

Parents can also help by telling their young kite flyers to leave the kite alone if it gets caught in a tree or on electric wires. It's better to get another kite than to have a child injured.

When March winds begin to blow it's almost a sure thing children will begin flying kites. And Reddy reminds parents that their children will enjoy the sport even more when they fly kites safely.

"All in all, these may sound like drastic measures," opines Mr. Hutcheson, "but they have been brought on by a few young hoodlums dragging their collective feet, and we will wage our last buck that discipline improves in Pleasant Hill High School, along with the elevation of educational standards."

No doubt there are many other towns where this courageous principal's ideas can be used to advantage—and probably will as the Pleasant Hill crack down and its results become known. But it should be noted, too, that compared with the horrible example of New York City, Pleasant Hill (and communities of comfortable size) can do what the big cities can't do.

In the smaller towns, the school authorities can get the parents together, can appeal to them in terms of responsibility for their offspring, their schools and respect for themselves. In the big cities, the parents are unknown to the school people. If the parents of the school hoodlums can be found, they, too, are usually hostile, irresponsible and on relief. And in New York, where it's been decided to remove the vicious and the uncontrollable, the problem of where to put them and how to treat them is far from solution.

The causes of hoodlumism are another story. But in the smaller towns the cure is readily available. For one thing, many small towns still have woodsheds.

MRS. JOHN S. COOPER WRITES:

Whirlwind Of Lincoln Day Parties Mark Washington Social Life

February is the month when Republicans in Congress do a lot of traveling to attend Lincoln Day Dinners. There is an understanding between the Republicans and Democrats that, if possible, no major legislation is brought up during this time, and the same applies with the Democrats when they are celebrating their Jackson Day Dinners.

The Lincoln birthday parties began for us on Tuesday, the 11th, when my husband was the guest speaker at the Lincoln Day Dinner in Baltimore. We went over by train and straight to the banquet at the Lord Baltimore Hotel. It was a big and very cheerful meeting and the food was particularly good. I am going to try to get the recipe for that okra soup, Senator and Mrs. Beall and Senator Butler were at the head table, and we appreciated the warmth and hospitality of their welcome. We got back to Washington quite late that night—tired but happy.

The next day, February 12th, was really Lincoln's birthday and it was also the birthday of one of the most remarkable women in Washington, Mrs. Nichols Longworth, daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt and widow of the late Speaker of the House. This birthday party was a lunch at the home of Vice President and Mrs. Nixon.

We have been to their house several times this year but this was the best of all as there were only eight of us, all dear friends of Mrs. Longworth, and we had an opportunity to have a quiet visit with old friends.

That afternoon we took the train for Lexington and got off early in the morning where we were met by Ronnie Smith of Somerset, who took time off from his business to drive us on our trip. We all had a nice hot breakfast at the Lafayette Hotel before starting to Maysville where your Senator was guest speaker. That was a good meeting too. We had lunch, country style, in a restaurant downtown and enjoyed every minute of it. It was hard to leave our friends in Maysville and get going for the next meeting in Covington that night but we made it in time, thank goodness, and had another big dinner where again John was the guest speaker. I was happy to see a lot of people from Pulaski County that evening in Covington.

We spent the night in Cincinnati and started driving to Columbus, Ohio in the afternoon. That was a pretty perilous drive as the snow was coming down hard and it got darker and colder and later by the minute. Senator Bricker had asked my husband to be the guest speaker for the Buckeye Republican Club, which I am told, is the oldest Republican club in the United States. We had about one minute to dress and get down to the banquet which had a very well planned program and an enthusiastic audience. A great friend of my husband, Congressman John Vorys was the toastmaster, and the famous Republican Glee Club of Columbus added tremendously to the entertainment.

The next morning it was still snowing hard and we were fortunate that the only flight to Louisville had not been cancelled. We got to the dear old Brown Hotel in time for all of the meetings. I went to the tea that the Louisville Republican Womens' Club gave at the hotel and then it was time to get ready for the big banquet. Everyone was sorry that the Secretary of the Army's plane had not been able to arrive from Washington but I think your Kentucky representatives substituted very well in his absence and the president of the Louisville Lincoln Club, Mr. Don Drye, told me it was one of the most successful banquets he could remember.

The next morning my husband had to go back to Washington but I motored to Somerset to see a very exceptional lady, my dear mother-in-law, Mrs. Cooper, and to settle down for a visit with her and my husbands' family. I just love Somerset and it was good to be back even for so short a visit.

On Tuesday morning I motored to Georgetown as Mrs. Leo Eddleman, the wife of the president of Georgetown College, had asked me to give a talk to the Womens' Association of the Georgetown College. She gave a most attractive lunch in her beautiful house before the meeting, and I so appreciated the honor of addressing such an outstanding group of women. After the meeting I went straight to the airport and arrived back in Washington to find Kentucky weather—twelve inches of snow. Tomorrow we leave for Cleveland where my husband is speaking at the World Affairs Council on Friday and Saturday. In the future when any one asks me "what does the Senators' wife do anyway," I plan to give them a carbon copy of this letter.

Homemakers Advisory Council Meeting

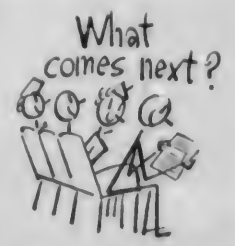

Good Grooming or Buying Foods will be the subject for the series of meetings next year in the Homemakers Clubs in Perry County.

This was decided by representatives of the ten Homemakers Clubs who met at the Kentucky Power Company auditorium at 10:00 Wednesday, Feb. 26, with Mrs. Morton Steele, County President, presiding. Miss Alda Henning, District Leader of Home Demonstration Extension Agents from the University of Kentucky Extension Service, and Mr. John Caudill, Associate County Agricultural Agent of Perry County, were present to help with the planning.

All members of Homemakers Clubs will have the opportunity to vote at the local club meetings in April—ballots are being sent to club Presidents by Paul Keen, County Agricultural Extension Agent.

One special interest series open to any person in the county will be Basic Sewing, Tailoring, or Civil Defense. Any person interested in one of these should phone the Extension office (Grand 430), contact a president of a Homemakers Club, or drop a card to Mr. Keen. Tailoring can be given only to women who know how to handle a sewing machine well and who are experienced seamstresses. Not more than two of these will be given depending on the number of votes cast.

Some other subjects which may be chosen by Homemakers

Perkins Assures Local Man Of Support For Flood Control

A Perry Countians, intent on seeing flood control here a reality in his lifetime, is the recipient of an "encouraging" letter from Congressman Carl Perkins.

Mr. Perkins this week wrote Harlie Caldwell, Field Street, Hazard:

"I cannot think of any program (flood control reservoirs in the Hazard area) that will be as beneficial for Eastern Kentucky as a flood control program to relieve the unemployment situation, especially when we consider the need for industrial water in the area."

"With this in mind, I requested the House Public Works Committee several years ago to pass a resolution that I introduced, authorizing a complete survey of the Kentucky River and its tributaries from the standpoint of flood control and navigation."

"The resolution passed the committee and thereafter we were able to get funds to commence the survey of the Kentucky River and, as I recall, we were able to get $67,000 last year to complete the survey."

This survey is due to be completed by June 30th this year. I have advised the Army Engineers about the unemployment in our area on different occasions in the past and have tried to be as helpful as possible in giving the Army Engineers a true picture of our area. The flood of last year no doubt caused the Army Engineers to take a new look at our whole area from the standpoint of flood control. Just what their recommendations will be I cannot state."

Blue Grass 4-H'ers Win State Honors

A quartet of accomplished Kentucky 4-H Club members have set their sights on greater goals this year, having been inspired and encouraged by high honors attained for their 1957 achievements. The four have won state awards in their respective 4-H programs. Their 4-H record books were reviewed by the State Extension Service which conducts the 4-H award programs in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Ann Walls...recreation Doris Smith...citizenship Tom Fryman...citizenship Jack Ewing...forestry

Learning to make the most of leisure left very little of that luxury for Ann Walls, 20, of Louisville, Jefferson county, winner of the 1957 state 4-H Recreation program award. But she feels it was more than worth it, partly because she received an attractive pen and pencil set from the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

Miss Walls, an eight-year 4-H'er, became recreation leader for the city of Louisville three years ago. Skilled in crafts and games, she also excels in square and folk dancing.

Miss Smith is majoring in elementary education at the University of Louisville. She has won the county championship in speech and the blue award in the district the past two years.

A strong sense of responsibility and service brought top state recognition to Doris Smith, 20, of Alton, Warren county, and Tom Fryman, 17, of Washington, Mason county. They are winners of the 4-H Citizenship award, and received handsome certificates presented in honor of Thomas E. Wilson.

Miss Smith is now a Junior at Western Kentucky State College to which she received a four-year scholarship for her leadership in civic affairs. The Junior Chamber of Commerce chose her as the county's outstanding junior citizen last year.

"My goal is to be a useful citizen of my country," says Miss Smith. Throughout her 11 years in 4-H, she spoke many times on the club's activities over the radio and on TV.

Young Fryman, an eight-year 4-H'er and president of his club, has consistently won recognition for his citizenship activities. For his theme concerning the United Nations he was selected by the local Odd Fellows to be their delegate in the "United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth," he was also a delegate to the World Affairs Institute in Cincinnati.

In the regional speech festival at Morehead Fryman won the Alexander Hamilton speech contest. He also collaborated with a friend in writing a history of the Democratic party for the Young Democrats Club of Mason county.

A boy who has no trouble seeing the forest for the trees is Jack Ewing, 17, of Greensburg, Green county. He was named winner of the 4-H Forestry award and received a handsome pen and pencil set from American Forest Products Industries.

Young Ewing attended the Kentucky 4-H Forestry Camp and participated in clearing a firebreak. He set out seedlings in his own pine stand, and cleared out and fertilized the area for better growth.

An eleven-year 4-H'er, Ewing has won awards in garden, house, sheep, beef and dairy.

"Perverting The Word"

By A. C. Grider

Recently a man cited two verses from First John to show how one was saved. He cited 4:7 which says every one that loveth is born of God. And he cited 5:1 which says whosoever believeth is born of God. And he ASSERTED that salvation was thus without WORKS. But we turn to the same book (First John) and read in 4:29 that whosoever DOETH RIGHTEOUSNESS is born of God. Does our friend believe THAT verse? Of course not. He insisted that doing things was not a part of the plan of salvation.

The man cited Titus 3:5 which says, "not by works etc." But if he had looked closely at the fourth verse he would have seen that it ended in a comma. And he would have known that the "not by works etc." belonged to verse four. The kindness and love of God appeared, not by works. That is what Paul said. But our friend not only ignored the comma which preceded the fifth verse, but he STOPPED at a comma and did not finish the verse. Thus he changed the word of God into a lie. The REST of the verse says he saved us BY THE WASHING OF REGENERATION and the renewing of the Holy Ghost. Thus in Titus 3:5, Jesus is saving exactly what he said in John 3:5. That is that salvation (the new birth) is brought about by WATER and the SPIRIT. Read both verses. John 3:5, Water and the Spirit. Titus 3:5, Washing and Renewing of Spirit. Man denies both verses!

The man says that baptism is the FIRST DUTY of a Christian. Behold his predicament. The FIRST DUTY of a Christian is to be baptized, he says. But he also says one doesn't have to be baptized. He can go to heaven WITHOUT baptism, he says. Imagine that! Go to heaven and NEVER do a SINGLE SOLITARY thing in the way of Christian Duty! I'll tell you, my friends, you had better get out from under such teaching and obey the gospel of Christ.

The man said that baptism was either the LAST CONDITION of salvation or the FIRST DUTY of the Christian. It is indeed. It is the last condition for salvation. How do I know? Because it puts us into the death of Christ. Rom. 6:3. That is where and when we are saved. Thus it is the last condition for salvation. Too, it puts us into Christ. Rom. 6:5-8 and Gal. 3:27. We are saved when we get into Christ. Hence baptism is the last condition for salvation. And baptism remits our sins. Acts 2:38. We are saved when our sins are remitted. So baptism is the last condition for salvation. Baptism washes away sins. Acts 22:16. We are saved when our sins are washed away. Thus baptism is the last condition for salvation.

Let me plead with the readers to attend services today at the Lothair Church of Christ and obey the gospel of Christ and Christ will add you to the CHURCH OF CHRIST. Acts 2:47.

TRUTH-AD FOR THE UNCHURCHED

By WINN T. BARR

The beginner in Bible study is soon faced with a dilemma; one verse (Titus 3:5) says we are not saved by works of righteousness which we have done; another verse (Acts 10:35) says he that worketh righteousness is accepted of Him!

One attempted solution is to say that some works are necessary to salvation, while others are not. But that won't work, because the ones alleged to be necessary (baptism and good works) are not boastful works or works of the law of Moses, but works of righteousness which we do—the very thing Titus 3:5 says we are not saved by!

A much better solution is to say that works are not the means of salvation, but are a mark of salvation. This is the right view. No works bring salvation, but good work follow and indicate it. If you are going to choose and designate a man who is saved, you have to pick one who has good works. That's the only way we can tell. We can't read hearts. He that worketh righteousness is accepted. That doesn't mean he is accepted by his works, but that his works show he is accepted.

Abraham was justified in Gen. 15:6. You can't find any work on which that justification depended. That was saving justification. Many years later in Gen. 22, Abraham was again justified. This time it was by works, but it was showing justification, rather than saving justification. What Abraham did upon the mountain obviously has become known to more than just God, and as a result Abraham is called "the friend of God" (James 2:21-24). You see, it turned out to be justification before men as well as before God.

So, I can believe in baptism and doing good works, without believing I am saved by them. One can show himself to be righteous by baptism and good works. That's what baptism is for. Remember: salvation is by conversion, rewards are by good works that spring from salvation, and baptism is for testimony.

Agency Buys Purebred From U.K.

Mrs. Crit Keen is suffering from an attack of erysipala. Daffodils are pushing buds out of the ground around our hill; so soon after the zero weather.

Miss Dorothy Combs, a student at Lee's College at Jackson, visited her father, Roscoe Combs, over the weekend.

Mrs. Laura York is very ill at her home here.

Mrs. Lucy Turner, is recovering as well as can be expected from her broken arm. Her sons, Robert and Steve, visited her this weekend.

The agency has purchased a purebred cow from the University of Kentucky, hoping to improve its herd.

All our deepest sympathy goes out to the Smiths, Sarah Jane and Thomas and children, in their great loss last week at Bulan. When I think of the many wonderful good meals Mrs. Smith has fed me and hundreds of others, and of the neighborly help in time of trouble they have given people in all that area, my heart aches to think of anyone stealing what few articles they were able to carry out of their burning building. I hope it was someone driving through from some other section; I'd not like to believe any Kentucky mountaineer so cruel-hearted! Better luck next time. Mr. and Mrs. Smith and Bill, Jasper, and Pearl.

Son, you don't know nothing about fish; why they used to be some of the masterfullest catfish in the north fork. My grandpap used to tell how back yonder when the railroad first came through here, come a landslide, and a whole string of coal gons was derailed about a mile below Chavies and went into the river. Time the road crew got out there the cars couldn't be seen nowhere. They got to search around and one of the men noticed a big old catfish at barely could move. And, you know, they catch that catfish and cut him open and there was that whole string of box cars. Reason he couldn't do no good swimming, the engine had lodged in his oozlum and was about to burn him up. And that's shore the truth, now.

Mr. Dean Bowling visited his mother, Elta Bowling at Shcal. Mr. and Mrs. Walker Fields and Joe Eel McKnight came to visit Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Engle. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Engle are planning to move to Williamsburg, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Ica Rice, of Shoal, have a new baby boy. A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Barger. Her name is to be Pamela Gail. This makes them four girls and one boy.

The students that are on the honor roll in Mrs. Mary Belle Gays room at Elkhorn school are:

36,000 New Seedlings Ordered

Bob Marcum, U.S. Soil Conservation Service, Dr. Eli C. Boggs, cooperating with the Perry County SCD and Kentucky Division of Forestry, is planning to improve fifteen acres woodland this spring, on his farm at Krypton.

The present stand of trees on this land was heavily damaged by fire a few years ago. The trees that were left standing are considered worthless and only occupying space. Dr. Boggs will plant this tract of land to shortleaf pine using 1,000 seedlings per acre. He will then kill the fire-damaged trees using chemical 2, 4, 5-T in frills out around the trunk of the trees. This will take the shade off of the shortleaf pine seedlings, making it possible for these new seedlings to get a good start in growth. In addition to the above, Dr. Boggs will plant five acres of idle land this spring to white pine.

Mr. and Mrs. Olney B. Owen, Louisville, placed an order for 25,000 trees last week with the Soil Conservation Service in Hazard. The Owens will plant these trees this spring on their farm on Big Leatherwood Creek at Slem.

Denver Miniard, SCD Supervisor, Cornettsville, plans to plant 1,000 white pine on the hill in back of his pond this spring. This will prevent the soil from washing off the hill into the pond.

Sermon Of the Week Some Of Life Great Blessings Have Come From Handicaps

Rev. R. W. Richmond

Suppose a census were taken of all the handicapped people throughout the world, or a record made of those who face great difficulties. More than likely, the number would be far greater than the number that John saw. Much human sympathy would be going out to them and all human effort dedicated to their deliverance. The world would be surprised to know how many people suffer from handicaps and go through great difficulties without complaining or telling any one else about their troubles.

Perhaps the Negro Spiritual that says, "Nobody knows the trouble I see. Nobody knows but Jesus," expresses the suffering of untold millions of people. The world over knows the words of another good song that tells exactly how many people feel about their difficulties and handicaps. They sense the deep spiritual significance of the immortal hymn, "What A Friend We Have In Jesus" written by Joseph Scriven. A line of which reads, "Are you weak and heavy laden, cumbered with a load of care?"

Handicaps and difficulties can be physical, mental, moral, social or spiritual. The great question in the mind of many people is why and for what purpose?

When we read the biographies of many people, men and women who have experienced and overcome, or who come through it "in spite of." Then we realize that God had a purpose and that in spite of handicaps and difficulties, He unfolds His purpose through the faith, courage, determination, and devotion of those who in their hearts, do not fail.

Men and women who do overcome and achieve "in spite of," are not made of just ordinary stuff. In speaking of these difficulties William Cullen Bryant says, "Difficulty is the nurse of greatness—a harsh nurse, who rocks her foster children roughly, but rocks them into strength and athletic proportion—the mind grappling with great aims and wrestling with mighty impediments, grows by a certain necessity of the statute of greatness."

Some of the greatest blessings that have come to the human race were wrought by handicapped men and women, used of God to show what He can do with souls whose minds are stayed on Him. One of the most striking facts about people who do not make it a business to go around complaining about what hurts them, is that they often work miracles. Fannie Jane Crosby was blind from the age of six weeks. Who would have thought that under a hard and awful handicap as that, she

Is a handicapped or a difficulty? Remember the great welcome to heaven is, "These are they who have come up through trials and great tribulations, enter ye into the joy of the Lord." People who dodge difficulties in order to save themselves will never get to heaven.
